LAMP LIGHT AT HOME

Lamps are different to everything else made at Moorcroft and there is a very good reason for this. The moment they are switched on, light falls instantly on the Moorcroft lamp base, causing it to shine in a myriad of rich, deep colours. In short, the moment it is switched on, a lamp commands instant attention wherever it is placed.

As a result, it will come as no surprise to learn that a Moorcroft lamp is often the very first of all Moorcroft purchases made. Vases, plates, plaques and bowls tend to come later, but it is the lamps which lead the way. All of them are crafted to comply with the Lighting Association rules and regulations and each is made using precisely the same techniques which Moorcroft's founding father, William, introduced back in 1897. The designs can be modern, or they can echo back to the Arts and Crafts era of which Moorcroft today is the only original survivor. For Arts and Crafts read Talwin featured in this catalogue; for history and longevity, read Queens Choice and Anna Lily. For a combination of modernity and history, look at Derngate, Buchanan and Kingsborough Gardens inspired by that great master of interior design, Charles Rennie Mackintosh.

When light falls onto the raised outline surfaces of a Moorcroft lamp base, it lights up history, great design work and those familiar colours which shine like jewels in the warm light shining outwards from a pure silk shade. When you buy a small slice of history, it sets a tone in your home. The choice of the lamp will always be your choice and when it lights up there is pure beauty for all to see and enjoy.
